

COMPARATIVE LITERATURE MAJOR AND MINOR

MAJOR AND MINOR SUBSTITUTIONS

Many UCD Majors and Minors incorporate credits earned while completing an internship and/or an independent research project. Students in some programs have been able to use their Washington Program Internship (WAS 192) and Research Seminar (WAS 199) credits as substitutions for their major or minor requirements.

Check with your advisor to see if you can do this as well!

INTERNSHIP IDEAS

Some of the places in Washington DC where students with an interest in Comparative Literature could intern include:

International Arts and Artists
Shakespeare Library
National Endowment for the Arts
National Museum of American History
Humanities Council of Washington, D.C.

Meridian International Center
Embassy of the Republic of Pakistan
National Archives
Fillmore Arts Center
Library of Congress

This is not a complete list! Please e-mail at washingtonprogram@ucdavis.edu us or visit us in our offices on the 2nd floor of South Hall to learn about more internship opportunities.

QUOTES FROM STUDENTS:

“I have grown tremendously in my time at the Shakespeare Theatre and Library. The mentors I have met here, and the opportunities I have been fortunate enough to have, are unparalleled.”

“The National Endowment for the Arts was a place where I learned, added upon my previous knowledge, and gained a new perspective on the field of cultural policy. I planned meetings for international visitors from all over the globe. In addition, I worked on two large projects while I was at the Arts Endowment: Operation Harmony, and one project dealing with regional partnerships with Mexico. The NEA has been organizing cultural exchange between regions of the United States and Mexico for several years. My time with NEA not only gave me valuable experience, it was a major networking tool. Working for the NEA greatly enhanced my career/educations future plans- I expected an interesting experience, and I got one.”

“I found my experience in D.C. to be one that strongly complimented my academic pursuits. I also found as much time as possible to enjoy the museums and activities D.C. has to offer. It's an exciting place to be.”
