

Washington Summer Program Internship #13 - Kid Save

Hi Summer Students

If you are interested in children's issues this could be a very good opportunity. We have not had a student here but a former student did apply to this organization. She did a lot of research about it and thought it a very worthwhile organization to include in our program. She didn't accept it because she had already accepted another internship when this org made her an offer. You can send your application directly to the President, Terry Baugh, terry@kidsave.org. Her other contact info is below. I suggest you check out their website for more information. Thanks. - Sara

According to Terry Baugh, "Kidsave is a nonprofit in Washington, DC that provides interns with terrific work experiences. An internship would provide the opportunity to learn about nonprofit management, public policy related to foster care and deinstitutionalization of orphans, event management and communications."
