

Washington Spring Program Internship #14
California Institute for Federal Policy Research

Hello Spring Students

Here is another internship possibility if you are interested in California Public Policy issues. This organization is located in the Washington Center on the 2nd floor so you wouldn't have far to go to get to work! Past students give this internship great reviews. It's a small organization. It consists of the Director, Asst Director, Fellow and one or two interns. But that means you get to work independently. You also do a lot of writing (writing articles for their newsletter) so strong writing skills are a must!

Check out their website at www.calinst.org. If you are interested email me your cover letter/resume/short writing sample (preferably in one file attachment) and I'll fwd it on.

Please address your cover letter to:

Tim Ransdell

Executive Director

California Institute for Federal Policy Research

1608 Rhode Island Ave, NW, Washington, DC, 20068

Internship at the California Institute for Federal Policy Research

Substantive and interesting opportunity for student seeking non-partisan, policy-oriented, California-focused Hill experience. Interns spend roughly 25 percent of their time providing general administrative support, and the rest of their time performing legislative research, drafting articles for the Institute's weekly newsletter, and attending hearings and press conferences related to California social, economic and environmental interests. Students may be asked to conduct analyses or contribute to reports.

Successful applicant will gain hands-on multi-disciplinary experience while learning about the federal legislative process and California public policy priorities. Must have strong oral and written communication skills, an interest or a desire to develop an interest in public policy, a positive attitude, and a willingness to collaborate with others on projects.

Thanks. - sl
